Wealth Potential and Financial Outlook

Weight of Wealth in Your BaZi Chart:

Gé Rén will analyse the proportion and condition of Wealth within the overall chart, helping you understand the importance of wealth, resources, authority, and needs in your life, as well as how these influences tend to manifest.

Difficulty of Gaining Wealth and Best Approach:

Gé Rén will explain the conditions that may be more favourable when acquiring and managing wealth, the abilities or interpersonal resources you may be able to draw upon, and the approaches that may suit you better. This helps you understand how to pursue, accumulate, use, and manage wealth more effectively.

Most Favourable Life Stages for Wealth:

By combining Major Luck Cycles and Annual Luck, Gé Rén will identify periods that may be more worth seizing and those that call for greater caution. This helps you recognise suitable timing, plan when to advance or hold back, allocate your resources, and make appropriate choices when conditions are more favourable.

Risks to Watch Out For:

Gé Rén will identify the chart structures and periods of fortune that may contribute to financial loss, unbalanced judgement, or resource depletion, helping you recognise potential risks early, make appropriate preparations, and take corresponding risk-management measures.

Love and Relationships

Romantic Affinity:

Gé Rén will analyse your romantic appeal, opportunities to meet a partner, and relationship-development tendencies, helping you better understand your emotional patterns and the approaches that may commonly arise in your relationships.

Characteristics of Your Partner:

Gé Rén will interpret, through the relationship structures within your chart, the characteristics of a partner who may be more suitable for you, together with the support, needs, and patterns of interaction that may arise between both people. This helps you understand where you may find it easier to complement one another and where adjustments may be needed.

Recommended Partner-Selection Criteria:

Gé Rén will explain the factors worth prioritising in terms of values, ways of getting along, and living circumstances, helping you establish a clearer direction when choosing a partner and make choices that are better suited to you.

Recommended Approach to the Relationship:

Even when two people are well matched, the relationship still requires effort from both sides. Gé Rén will provide directions that support communication, the setting of boundaries, and getting along over the long term, helping both people build a more stable and mutually respectful relationship.

Marriage Conditions:

By combining Major Luck Cycles and Annual Luck, Gé Rén will identify periods when the conditions for relationships and marriage may be more mature, as well as periods that call for more careful handling. This helps you recognise the timing worth noting when planning the direction of your relationships and life.

Family and Interpersonal Relationships

Based on the structure of your original BaZi chart, Gé Rén will analyse the symbolic strength, patterns of interaction, and suitable directions for getting along within the following family and interpersonal relationships represented in your chart.

You may choose the people you wish to understand according to your actual circumstances and concerns. If there is anyone you would prefer Gé Rén not to comment on, you may also let us know in advance, and we will respectfully omit them.

A Note on Family and Interpersonal Commentary: The following commentary is derived from your own BaZi chart and the fortune you experience, reflecting how these relationships affect you and often providing meaningful guidance. However, each person mentioned has their own destiny and fortune, and the related influences may be strengthened or softened by their own choices and actions. What actually unfolds therefore remains subject to change.

Gé Rén always encourages you to take a positive approach, do what is beneficial, and make every reasonable effort to improve what lies within your reach. At the same time, we also remind you that little can pass beyond the bounds of destiny. Knowing when to let go, rather than forcing people or things that are not present in your destiny, is itself a path towards peace.

Father:

Gé Rén will analyse your father's symbolic strength within your chart, the affinity and patterns of interaction between you, the role he may play, and how this relationship may affect you.

Advice on Getting Along:

Based on the interaction structure between you and your father, Gé Rén will offer suitable directions that may support communication, mutual understanding, and the maintenance of the relationship.

Mother:

Gé Rén will analyse your mother's symbolic strength within your chart, the affinity and patterns of interaction between you, the role she may play, and how this relationship may affect you.

Advice on Getting Along:

Based on the interaction structure between you and your mother, Gé Rén will offer suitable directions that may support communication, mutual understanding, and the maintenance of the relationship.

Siblings and Peers (including friends, classmates, and colleagues):

Gé Rén will analyse the symbolic strength and patterns of interaction associated with siblings and peer relationships within your chart, helping you understand the support that may be more readily available to you, the cooperation or competition that may arise, and the interpersonal boundaries that require attention.

Advice on Getting Along:

Gé Rén will offer suitable directions regarding closeness and distance, approaches to cooperation, and exchanges of resources, helping you build relationships that are more balanced and mutually beneficial.

Children (if applicable):

Gé Rén will analyse the symbolic strength of children within your chart, the affinity and patterns of interaction between you, and how this relationship may affect you.

Advice on Getting Along and Family Planning:

If you already have children, Gé Rén will offer suitable directions that may support communication, mutual understanding, and the maintenance of the parent-child relationship, based on the interaction structure between you. If you are considering family planning, Gé Rén will also explain the stages and related conditions that may be more worthy of attention, based on changes brought by Major Luck Cycles and Annual Luck. Actual decisions regarding conception should continue to reflect your personal wishes and the advice of qualified medical professionals.

Family and Interpersonal Relationships

Employers, Supervisors, and Clients:

Gé Rén will analyse the symbolic strength of employers, supervisors, and clients within your chart, and explain the patterns of interaction that may commonly arise between you and these figures, the support you may receive, and the pressures you may be more likely to experience.

Advice on Workplace and Business Relationships:

Based on these patterns of interaction, Gé Rén will offer suitable directions that may support communication, the building of trust, and the effective use of your own abilities.

Employees, Subordinates, and Suppliers:

Gé Rén will analyse the symbolic strength of employees, subordinates, and suppliers within your chart, and explain the patterns of interaction that may commonly arise between you and these figures in relation to management, cooperation, delegation, and the allocation of responsibilities.

Advice on Management and Cooperation:

Based on these patterns of interaction, Gé Rén will offer suitable directions for management and cooperation that may support communication, appropriate delegation, the setting of boundaries, and the clear allocation of responsibilities, helping you build more stable working and business relationships.

Benefactors, Adversaries, Disputes, and Accidents

Benefactor Support:

Gé Rén will analyse the conditions within your chart for receiving support, assistance, and key resources. By also considering changes brought by Major Luck Cycles and Annual Luck, Gé Rén will explain the periods when support may be more readily available, the ways in which it may arise, and the directions worth pursuing.

Risk of Adversaries and Disputes:

Gé Rén will identify the structures within your chart that may be more likely to give rise to misunderstandings, competition, disputes, or interpersonal drain. By combining these indications with Major Luck Cycles and Annual Luck, Gé Rén will highlight the periods when the related risks may become more pronounced, helping you recognise them earlier and exercise greater caution.

Advice on Managing Risks:

Gé Rén will explain the BaZi conditions that may give rise to these risks and offer suitable directions that may support improved communication, the setting of boundaries, and the handling of disputes. Where contracts, legal matters, or litigation are involved, the advice of qualified professionals should still take precedence.

Accident Risks:

Gé Rén will analyse the more pronounced impact conditions within your chart and Major Luck Cycles, identifying the periods that may call for particular caution and the practical directions you may take for everyday safety and risk management. The content above consists only of risk indications drawn from the BaZi chart and cannot replace professional safety, medical, or legal advice.

Major Luck Cycle Calculation and Transition Guidelines

(The information below is an example. Each person's Major Luck Cycles must be calculated independently from their birth data.)

The first Major Luck Cycle begins 5 years, 11 months, 14 days, and 11 double-hours after birth, corresponding to August 9, 2008.

In every 戊 (Bedrock) year, meaning a year ending in the digit 8, the transition into the next Major Luck Cycle occurs on the second day after 立秋 (Beginning of Autumn), precisely at 9:29 PM.

The above shows the date on which this BaZi chart enters its first Major Luck Cycle. For transitions into a new cycle:

- A Bedrock year is a year ending in 8, such as 1988, 2008, or 2028.
- Beginning of Autumn is one of the 24 Solar Terms and usually falls in early August.

Major Luck Cycle Overview: Covering Forty Years

This section provides an overview of each Major Luck Cycle. If you would like a more in-depth analysis of an individual cycle, you may purchase the corresponding Major Luck Cycle report according to the stage of life most important to you. Gé Rén's Major Luck Cycle report includes a year-by-year analysis of the full ten-year cycle, allowing you to understand its most important direction in advance, much like having a clear roadmap prepared for the path ahead.

A Note on Family and Interpersonal Commentary:

The following commentary is derived from your own BaZi chart and the fortune you experience, reflecting how these relationships may affect you and often providing meaningful guidance. However, each person mentioned has their own destiny and fortune, and the outcome may be strengthened or softened by their own choices and actions. What actually unfolds therefore remains subject to change. Gé Rén always encourages you to take a positive approach, do what is beneficial, and make every reasonable effort to improve what lies within your reach. At the same time, we also remind you that little can pass beyond the bounds of destiny.
